

Building a Multi-Ethnic and Multi-National Cyprus

Youth for a Multicultural Cyprus

Author: Kerstin Wittig
Editor: Yiannis Laouris

This booklet was prepared in the context of the project 'Building a Multi-Ethnic and Multi-National Cyprus to promote European Values and Regional and International Peace'.

The main objective of the project is to promote awareness and increase the sensitivity of the Cypriot Society on how a multi-ethnic and multi-cultural Cyprus serves European values and promotes regional and international peace.

To meet the main objective, the project engaged students, teachers and parents in workshops and activities to create a vision map for a multi-cultural and multi-ethnic Cyprus. Participants were encouraged to visualize and implement specific activities, which contribute towards materializing the vision for a multi-cultural society.

The coordinating organization of this project is the Future Worlds Center (legal reg.: Cyprus Neuroscience and Technology Institute), based in Nicosia. The project's partner organizations are: the Cyprus Adult Education Association, the Human Rights and Education Network, the University of Cyprus (Department for Political Sciences), and the Young Cypriot Scientists Network.

The project is part of UNDP's initiative Action for Cooperation and Trust (ACT), which receives support from the Americal people through a grant from USAID.

The contents of this document are the sole responsibility of the Future Worlds Center (legal reg.: Cyprus Neuroscience and Technology Institute) and can under no circumstances be regarded as reflecting the position of UNDP. The views expressed in this publication are those of the author(s) and do not necessarily represent those of the United Nations or its Member States, UNDP or USAID.

Multicultural Society – Multicultural Cyprus

Multiculturalism is a concept that we encounter more and more in our everyday life. It is being discussed in various contexts and has reached a paramount importance especially when it comes to the question of how schools in Cyprus can deal with the raising influx of immigrants, and, more specifically, of pupils with a language other than Greek as their mother tongue.

The term and concept of multiculturalism emerged in the 1960s in Anglophone countries in relation to the cultural needs of non-European migrants. It can be referred to as plurality or multiplicity of cultures. According to the Anthropologist Franz Boas, culture defines a 'system of shared beliefs, values, customs, behaviours, and artefacts that the members of society use to cope with their world and with one another, and that are transmitted from generation to generation through learning'. Thus, multiculturalism refers to a diversity of cultures within one society.

In the case of Cyprus, the term multiculturalism refers to the cultural diversity within Cypriot society, including Greek and Turkish Cypriots, but also Armenians, Latinos, and Maronites, as well as the growing diversity of ethnic migrant groups (legal or illegal) coming to the island. Multiculturalism as a concept recognizes the diversity of ethnic and cultural groups, and promotes mutual tolerance and acceptance among these groups.

How can You contribute to a Multicultural Society?

There are plenty of different opportunities for young people to get involved in multicultural activities and to play a role in promoting multiculturalism in our society.

Maybe your school offers some extra activities? Are your teachers interested in organising a workshop for students of your school on multiculturalism? There are lots of things you can do in your school, such as intercultural festivals, exhibitions, creation of story-books, play games and others. If you have a great idea and you need support or assistance, contact us, and we will do our best to help you materialise your idea!

In the following pages you can find contact information about organisations that offer activities on multiculturalism and intercultural dialogue. You can also find web-links to websites that might be of interest to you, and where you can find relevant material and resources.
